

ABSTRACT*FUSE ARRANGEMENT

A fuse arrangement comprises a circuit board having a terminal region and a conductive track electrically connected to the terminal region, the conductive track including a fuse region of reduced cross-sectional area, the fuse region being shaped to cause a deviation in the current flow through the fuse region and wherein the part of the conductive track between the terminal region and the fuse region is free from sharp deviations.